

Safety Legal Requirements

05 CEP POINTS

HRDF CLAIMABLE

FMA & OSH Act is an essential law related to the industry that both owner and workers should understand before execution of work.

This course provides relevant information on the factory requirement relating to safety, health and welfare of a worker and inspection of machinery as required by the law.

The level of commitment and involvement of management in some organization is still unacceptable due to lack of understanding to the law.

This program offers interactive sharing of knowledge from industry experts on the responsibilities of management and workers of an organisation in ensuring safety and health at the workplace. Participant will be able to differentiate between Statutory and Common law.
